Daly City's Budget Is Up 8 Per Cent

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The Daly City Council Wednesday adopted a record budget of $10,150,040 to meet rising costs of capital improvements and employe salaries.

It is an 8 per cent increase over last year's budget.

Highest across-the-board wage increase, 7½ per cent, went to the city's policemen.

Miscellaneous employes received a 6¼ per cent increase in salary and fringe benefits.

A "take it or leave it" raise of 6¼ per cent was given to the city's firemen.

The firemen had demanded the weekly work hours be cut from the present 60 to 56.

This would necessitate forming a third shift, firemen's spokesman Bob Barbanica explained.

Although the city contends such a schedule would require hiring of five additional personnel, Barbanica argued only one new man "might possibly be needed."

He based his stand on the fact that the department is now working erratic hours.

"Some days we have plenty of personnel while on others we come up short," Barbanica said.

He said the new current operating procedures could be easily converted to a three shift force without trouble.

If this were agreed upon the department would have settled for a mere 4½ per cent pay increase according to Barbanica.

But the city contends the firemen reverted to their original demand of some 35 per cent across the board during yesterday's deadline budget hearing.

"They refused the city's counteroffer," said Don Fleming, assistant to the city manager, after the special meeting at city hall.

A 35 per cent increase would amount to some $300 monthly for the average fireman.

"The city cannot afford to hire five new firemen or grant such an increase in pay," Fleming said.

Barbanica said "each year our situation here is eroding."

He refused comment on any counteraction the fire department may initiate.

"We'll have plenty to say after our (fire department union) meeting," Barbanica said.

Daly City Firemen Picketing

Daly City firemen threw up an informational picket line around Central Fire Station on Lake Merced Boulevard starting at noon yesterday.

Members of Local 1879 of the International Association of Firefighters voiced unhappiness over recent salary increases granted by the City Council this month.

The informational picket line was composed of off-duty firemen. Emergency calls and normal fire department activities continued, a spokesman for the firemen said.

The firemen accused the city of using favoritism in granting recent pay increases to its employes. They noted the police department once again was given a substantially higher pay hike than other employes.

Firemen received a 6¼ percent wage and fringe benefit increases. Police were granted a 7½ percent across-the-board hike.

But salaries were only one of several complaints voiced by firemen at a union meeting last Friday.

"We firemen would not mind a smaller raise to help the citizens' tax base; however, for the city to deprive the firemen and their families so another group can get a larger raise is unfair and discriminatory," spokesman Bob Barbanica said.

According to a pamphlet circulated by protesting firemen, the workers' complaints fall on deaf ears in both city and fire department administrations.

"Internally, the fire department administration has steadily strived to reduce any favorable working conditions firemen have had. These negative actions have been condoned by the city administration," protesting firemen alleged.

The result of continued ignoring of firemen's complaints is that qualified personnel are leaving the Daly City Fire Department, it was further alleged.

How long the informational picket line would be maintained was not known. Some firemen attending last week's meeting had asked for strike sanction. However, that course of action was vetoed temporarily.

PICKETS IN DALY CITY—These members of the Daly City Fire Department—off duty—established informational picketline at Central Fire Station yesterday. The signs tell the firemen's side of the story.

JESD Trustees OK New Policy Paper

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees June 29 adopted 1971-72 rules, regulations and policies regarding personnel and employer-employe relations.

The 19-page document replaces last year's Memorandum of Agreement between the district teachers.

Binding arbitration and bilateral teacher-trustee agreement sections were eliminated at the suggestion of the District Attorney's Office.

Superintendent Frank L. Greenwood said that the district's negotiators would re-open discussitns with teachers, who last month suspended talks until August.

He said the trustees would give 30 days' notice to teachers before making changes in provisions.

The freeze on teacher salaries was lifted and dental benefits to dependents were increased.

But, the trustees did not give a cost of living salary increase.

Teachers will be required to perform noon-time supervision duties not to exceed an average of 20 minutes a week for the school year. They also will be required to attend whatever after-school meetings might be required by the principal or by district administrators.

The teachers must remain at school no less than 15 minutes after last classes. Last year it was 10 minutes.

Trustees eliminated a special $40,000 educational fund allocated teachers last year.

The Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association in Daly City is referring to its legal advisors the action.

Anita Jackson, JCTA president, said:

"It should not be necessary to remind the members of the board of their obligations under the provisions of the Winton Act to meet and confer in a conscientious effort to reach agree-

Hayloft Fire Finishes Job

Danmanns Hayloft, the Pacifica landmark that burned nearly to the ground last year, now has.

Pacifica firemen spent more than five hours early Saturday putting out a debris fire at the coastside site off Pedro Point.

After last year's fire, work was slowly progressing on the tearing down of the remaining charred frames. Firemen said unknown persons lit the stacked lumber and debris shortly after 2 a.m.

East Market Project to Start Soon

After more than four years of planning, the East Market Street improvement project in Daly City is about to get started.

The County Board of Supervisors on June 29 overruled a single protest against the establishment of an assessment district on part of the project and ordered work to proceed.

Construction bids, with Piombo Corporation of San Carlos submitting the low bid of $745,531, were opened. Award of a contract was delayed until next Tuesday.

The work, to include four lanes of paving, curbs, gutters, sidewalks and traffic signals at key places, will extend from County Street a block east of Mission Street to Guadalupe Canyon Parkway and will be the major connector between the parkway and Junipero Serra Freeway. Utilities will be underground.

The hearing last week was on the formation of an assessment district covering a small unincorporated stretch between Third Avenue and Hillside Boulevard. Ricco Lagomarsino, owner of one of five parcels involved, argued that the street in front of his place is adequate and that would be wasteful to tear it up and put in a new street. The protest was overruled.

Only $13,912 of the total cost is to be assessed against the property owners. The remainder will be paid by the county, the city of Daly City and the north County Sanitation District.

S. Bruno Building Down From Last Year

San Bruno Building Inspector Melvin Bredlow's annual fiscal year building permit report shows $12,820,329 worth of building in San Bruno last year—exclusive of highway projects.

This is down considerably from the 1969-70 fiscal year's $23,613,946, but that year was above anything San Bruno had seen previously.

This marks the second year of San Bruno's third major building boom.

The first occurred right after the San Francisco Earthquake and Fire of 1906—and consisted mainly of sturdy family homes. The second, in the post war homes, consisted of giant single family tract homes, and an average of one church and two schools per year.

Building nearly died out in San Bruno for a few years, as single family home sites were filled, and home-building grew unprofitable.

They even stopped building apartment houses.

For the past two years, there has not been listed a single church, or school. In 1969-70, there were two homes and one duplex; in 1970-71, there were seven new homes.

It has been mainly giant apartment complexes and shopping centers.

During the past fiscal year, a total of $7,417,278 has been invested in new apartment construction, with 737 living units. This was on top of $10,271,450 invested in 1969-70, with 1317 new living units, almost none of which has yet been completed.

Thus, there are some two thousand apartment units now under construction, at three different sites.

The last year has seen $2,564,067 worth of new commercial construction—on top of $12,582,417 in permits issued in 1969-70, some of which is not yet completed.

Home remodeling projects have continued with 308 projects totaling barely a half-million dollars, down slightly from 1969-70's 394 projects totaling $535,529. However, commercial alterations grew from 69 projects at $163,550 in 1969-70, to 107 projects at $12,820,046 in 1970-71.

Four-Car Pacifica Crash Injures Eleven Persons

Eleven persons, including three teen-agers from Pacifica, were injured in a four-car collision on Cabrillo Highway in Pacifica last night, California Highway Patrolmen reported.

Officer R. A. Kosta said the accident occurred when an auto driven by Steve Michael Hyden, 17, of 1547 Terra Nova Boulevard, Pacifica, stopped to make a left turn.

An auto driven by Alfred J. Vierra, 52, of Oakland, struck the rear of Hyden's car, pushing it into the southbound lane, where it was struck by an auto driven by Erhard Borch-Jensen, 42, of 1359 DeSolo Drive, Pacifica. He suffered facial lacerations and chest injuries.

Vierra's car spun around and was hit by a vehicle driven by Toni Matel Sills, 22, of 1342 Linda Mar Boulevard, Pacifica.

Taken to Mary's Help Hospital were Vierra and a passenger in his car, Rosali Camacho, 67, of San Francisco; Sills and a passenger in the same car, Akemi Karen Ichihashi, 25, of 1342 Linda Mar Boulevard, Pacifica; four passengers in Hyden's vehicle, Rosemary Gonzalez, 18, of Flint, Mich.; Thomas Allen Lane, 16, 1476 Crespi Drive, Pacifica; Janet Baldelli, 16, of 104 Franz, Apt. 8, Pacifica, and Cathy Tenorio, 17, 1159 Crespi Drive, Pacifica; Hyden and Borch-Jensen.

Only Borch-Jensen was seriously injured, Kosta said.

Pacifica Boy Lake Victim

Two youths, one of them a seven-year-old Pacifica boy, drowned during outings at Lake Berryessa during the holiday weekend.

Gordon Belisle, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Belisle, of 629 Parkview Circle, Pacifica, was found drowned in four feet of water at the north end of the lake on Monday.

The child had wandered away from his parents and walked some 15 feet into the water from the shoreline, a spokesman at park headquarter said.

The body was recovered a short time after his mother realized he was missing, at about 10:20 a.m.

Meanwhile, 19-year-old Roger Yee drowned near the park headquarters' building later Monday.

Yee's body was recovered some 30 minutes after he was seen going under the surface of the lake. He had resided at 1462 Clay Street, San Francisco.

MRS. VINTON STRATTON (right), president of the Friends of the Daly City Library, and Mrs. John Connolly, vice-president, present several books to Miss Elia Casillas (left) and Diane Ramirez of the Daly City Latin heritage program. Miss Casillas is a Stanford student and assistant director of the program to Mrs. Julia Moranes. Miss Ramirez is a Notre Dame College student and program secretary. The Spanish and English textbooks were purchased individually by Frends members. The Latin heritage program summer school has an enrollment of 95 Mexican-Americans and 65 tutors. "A Spanish-speaking child entering an all-English school is truly handicapped," Mrs. Stratton said, "an adult speaking both languages has a needed gift for our community."

BEST OF PROJECTS —The Junipero Serra Freeway (and its Eugene Doran Memorial Bridge) won another award last week when it was voted the best county, city or special district project contributing to the total environment of the community. Mary's Help Hospital appears in background of this photo taken near the freeway's northern terminus.

Top Environment Awards Presented; UAL, Freeway

The Junipero Serra Freeway, the entire United Air Lines Maintenance Base, Allstate Insurance Company headquarters in Menlo Park and the city of Menlo Park shared the top environmental awards made by the San Mateo County Development Association.

The third annuual program was held at the inaugural luncheon meeting at the Hilton Inn, at San Francisco International Airport.

Business leaders must provide "cool, sound, credible thinking and action in the entire field of ecology and conservation," new President A. T. Paioni said. "It is every corporation's inescapable responsibility to do something about it."

The honorary and runner-up awards included an unusual recognition of the Christmas stars of Brisbane and a commendation to its citizens for individually erecting large lighted stars on their hillside homes during the yule season.

More than 200 were so displayed last year; a Chamber of Commerce official, accepting the award for the city, said there will be twice as many this year.

The new freeway, with its sweeping overpasses and including the Eugene A. Doran Memorial bridge at Crystal Springs, was top winner in the catergory of greatest contribution to the environment of the area of any project of the county, the cities or a special district.

Runner-up was the water quality control plant operated by the city of San Mateo; and honorary laurels went to the city of Half Moon Bay for its Main Street beautification project.

The 135-acre United Air Lines Maintenance Base, the size of a small city, took first in the category of the business or industry that has made the most substantial contribution to a better environment within the community, the Bay Area or California.

Noted in its citation were the treatment of nearly a million gallons of waste water a day to a drinking water purity before being poured into the Bay, the use of propane gas in its vehicles to avoid air pollution and the efficient smoke reduction program at the base.

Runnerup was the program of support given to, Community Pride Recycling Centers in the county by Continental Can, National Can, American Can and Owens-Illinois companies.

Allstate Insurance Company captured the exterior lighting aesthetics award for its night lighting at its acreage in Menlo Park, at 2882 San Hill Road.

Runner-up was the city hall in South San Francisco, said to be a replica of Independence Hall in Philadelphia, and lit by high intensity lights on a hillside.

Brisbane's hillside stars took the honorary placement.

A special overall award went to the city of Menlo Park for placing so many nominations in the environment contest. These included the Menlo Park civic center design and lighting; the Sand Hill Parkway, Sharon Park, Belle-Haven Mini park, and the Counterpart paint up, clean up program.

Testimonial Honors Joseph Lewkowitz

Educational and civic leaders honored veteran Jefferson Elementary School District trustee Joseph Lewkowitz Thursday.

The fete at the Meat Block restaurant in Daly City drew more than 200 persons, including Mayor Bernard Lycett, city councilmen, trustees and longtime friends of Lewkowitz and his family.

The testimonial came on the last day of Lewkowitz' term. He served 18 years and chose not to seek re-election for a new term, which started July 1.

Lewkowitz received several resolutions of commendation and achievement — from the State Senate, the San Mateo County supervisors, the Jefferson elementary and high school districts' boards of trustees, the State Assembly, the San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees, the City of Daly City and the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce.

Lewkowitz received "the traditional Henry Doelger watch" from Ed King and a round-trip ticket for two to Hawaii from the members of the community who were honoring him.

"You've distinguished yourself in the field of education," Jefferson High trustee chairman Al Teglia said.

Lewkowitz was described as a good father, a good citizen and a great guy by Judge Frank Blum.

"I am very much humbled," said Lewkowitz, who has seven children.

He said he was "glad to have been able to sit at the school board and meet all these people."

A trustee does not receive pay for his time and effort, "But it's one thing I wanted to do," Lewkowitz said.

Store Robbed

An armed man robbed the Primrose liquor store, 269 Primrose Avenue, Burlingame, of an estimated $70 shortly after 1:30 Monday.

The store's owner, Carl George, told police that a white male in his early twenties walked into the store, pulled a revolver from his right pants pocket, placed a brown paper bag on the counter and asked to have it filled.

ment, and to proceed otherwise would be of questionable legality and would have to be referred to our legal counsel for appropriate action."

Miss Jackson said that, in light of a recent Superior Court decision relating to the employer-employe relations in the district, the action would appear to be in contempt of that ruling.

"We implore the board to seriously consider the ramifications of this action, for which the board will be held individually and collectively responsible for their actions and its effect on the children and entire teaching-learning process in Daly City."

Negotiations were broken off after five months when on June 10 the teachers decided against resuming talks until August.

Each side—Public Relations, Inc., representing the district and the JCTA, represented by the Certified Employes Council—has charged the other with bad faith.

Trustees decided to proceed with adoption of policies.

The JCTA has expressed a keen interest in keeping in force the Memorandum of Agreement approved by trustees after a brief strike last year.

The agreement is under litigation.

A judge ruled it legal, except for sections dealing with so-called binding arbitration. At the urging of the district attorney's office all portions of the pact dealing with bi-lateral agreement of board and teachers have been eliminated.

Other portions have been revised and the document is one of "policy" rather than of "agreement."

Superintendent Frank Greenwood did not expect the teachers to be happy about the action, and has speculated that the JCTA membership, when it returns from the summer recess, might battle more for retention of the Memorandum of Agreement as a pact than for its contents.

JCTA effort in gaining the agreement was hailed nationwide and has been used as a model for other districts, Greenwood said.

The teacher organization leadership has participated in numerous workshops on such memorandums in the state.

Fire Captain McFarland of SSF Dies

South San Francisco Fire Capt. Howard MacFarland died Saturday in San Francisco of burns he received while vacationing.

MacFarland had been reported "fairly good" previously, although he had suffered severe second and third degree burns over most of his body when a butane bank exploded aboard a houseboat.

Several friends had been blown clear of the explosion.

MacFarland was vacationing at a lake near Sonora, Calif., and had been confined to a San Francisco hospital since the accident.

Services are pending on Friday at the Garden Mortuary in South San Francisco.

HEARING SET

Pacifica councilmen have set July 12 as the date of a public hearing on adding a section to the municipal code on annual sewer service standby fee for unimproved land.

LISA SAN FELIPE of South San Francisco received first award trophy from John Yohanan, manager of the Sample Shop at Westborough Square Center, for her collie dog, which was judged best in show in the recent First Annual Pet Parade Contest at Westborough Square. There were over 140 entries of an assortment of animals, from lizards to monkeys and boa constrictors to parrots.

Man Robbed of 50 Cents

Two youths beat and robbed a Daly City man of all his money — 50 cents — at Mission and San Jose Abenues Thursday.

The victim, Tom Lazaneo, 23, was taken to Mary's Help Hospital for treatment after the 11:30 p.m. attack.

Both suspects were described as "long haired hippie types" wearing brown leather jackets.

One of the youths was further described as a Latin male, 5-feet 6-inches, weighing 130 pounds. His accomplice was white, 5-feet 10-inches and weighed 170 pounds, police said.

Steven Quinn Drowning Victim

Funeral services were held yesterday at the Duggan-Serra Mortuary in Daly City for 15-year-old Steven Quinn, who drowned while swimming in Tehema County on July 2.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Quinn of 21 Southdale Avenue, Daly City; four brothers, William, James, Arthur and Larry; and three sisters, Connie, Cathy and Laura.

Daly City mayor Bernard J. Lycett today commended both the Cypress Hills Golf Club and Daly City Host Lions Club for their joint efforts in promoting the annual Junior Golf Tournament.

Lycett proclaimed July 7 and 8 (Wednesday and Thursday) "Cypress Junior Golf Tournament Days in Daly City."

In his proclamation Lycett said the tournament has grown over the past five years from 70 young golfers to this year's anticipated 200 players.

"Sponsors of this program have as their goal physical fitness and the proper use of leisure time by youth in the community," Lycett said.

Youth 18 years and under are eligible to enter the tournament.

Criminal Justice Council Member

State Sen. Arlen Gregorio (D-San Mateo) has been appointed by the Senate Rules Committee to the California Council on Criminal Justice.

Gregorio is a former deputy city attorney to San Bruno.

Created by federal legislation in 1968, the council evaluates proposals from various groups and agencies for local anti-crime programs.

This year's council has nearly $33 million in federal funds at its disposal, about 75 per cent of which is to be awarded to cities and counties on a matching basis.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

The Better Business Bureau has received a number of inquiries concerning insurance by-mail offers, many which sound too good to be true.

One insurance offered a coverage for $36 which would insure the "gaps" in Medicare. Upon investigation it was found that most of the "gaps" show up on the 61st and 91st day of a patient's hospital stay.

Local hospital's average stay is over all 8.8 days excluding Medicare patients seven days. Another insurance offered for $52.20 per year with promise to pay "$500 a month tax-free cash" upon arrival at the hospital.

In small print on the second page, the contract said that it was at the RATE OF $500 a month, or $16.66 per day—after the forth day of illness.

The Federal Trade Commission has announced it has substantially completed an investigation of alleged misleading and deceptive practices in the Mail Order Insurance Industry.

The practices of approximatley 72 companies, including nearly all of the important companies, were investigated. The majority of these companies operated in a legitimate manner. However, mail order insurance companies sell insurance through advertising and other promotional matter sent through the mail.

Many of the companies are not licensed in the state to which the mailings are sent, nor do they maintain resident agents. As a consequence they are not subject to effective state regulations. They might impose.

Although some life insurance is sold by mail orders, Health and Accident insurance comprise the largest amount of insurance sold in this manner. The primary practices used which appear to be misleading and deceptive include:

1. Offering life insurance policies to parents of servicemen with implication the insurance is being made available by the U.S Government.

2. Offering life insurance to veterans under circumstances indicating that such insurance has been endorsed or approved by the U.S. Government and is being offered at government ates.

3. Representing that policies are "Guaranteed Renewable," or can be cancelled only by the insured, whereas the company may cancel or rescind the policy because of alleged misstatement in the application form or because "pre existing" health conditions.

4. Using such terms as "MediCare" or otherwise falsely representing that the policies are in some way connected with the Government's Medicare program.

5. Misrepresenting the coverage of the policy or failing to disclose limitations or restrictions in the policy which prevent the insured from recovering losses sustained under the policy.

6. Failing to disclose that the premium rates may be substantially increased when the insured reaches a certain age or at some other period of time.

7. Misrepresenting the business status through the use of such terms as "Foundation Plan" or well-known names in the insurance industry such as "Prudential" and "Blue Cross."

8. Using such terms as "Certified" and "Seal of Approval" without disclosing the true nature thereof.

Public Defender Plan for County Studied

Should San Mateo County have a public defender's office?

The question, brought up from time to time in recent years and made the subject of considerable study, was raised again on June 29 by County Manager M.D. Tarshes.

Tarshes stressed that he was not recommending it at this time, but acknowledged that the possibility remains under active consideration.

Tarshes expressed concern about the cost of the present Private Defender service provided to the county on contract by the San Mateo County Bar Association. He told the Board of Supervisors that it was necessary to use $140,500 in contingency funds to pay the 1970-71 cost of the program based on a year-end computation.

At the start of the fiscal year, the board appropriated $565,000 for legal assistance to indigents. Tarshes said he realized in recent months that a supplemental appropriation would be needed but was surprised at the amount.

"This is essentially an open-ended contract," he told the supervisors. "I want to discuss with the association, and perhap with the judges, possible ways of making it less open."

Later, Tarshes commented that one way to put a ceiling on costs would be to establish a public defender's office within the framework of county government.

Tarshes told the board that $88,000 of the additional cost was in the Municipal Courts, where it was estimated at the start of the fiscal year that the number of defendants needing tax-supported legal assistance would be 300 amonth. The average for the first half of the year, he said, was 370 and for the last half 407. Cases in Superior Court exceeded estimates by 12 a month, he added.

On the basis of the 1970-71 experience, $735,000 has been budgeted for the program in the fiscal year starting Thursday.

For many years, needy defendants were assigned counsel by the courts from a panel of volunteer lawyers. In 1969, following a study and rejection of the idea of a public defender's office, the contract with the Bar Association was signed, giving it the responsibility for assignment of counsel.

Under the contract, the association is paid $200 for each Superior Court appointment on indictments and other specified cases, and $100 for all other Superior Court cases, including mental hearings and probation violations. Each Municipal Court case carries a $100 payment. In addition, the association gets $35,000 a year to handle Juvenile Court matters.

Bicycle Path Bill Approved in Committee

Senator Arlen Gregorio's bill (SB 1100) permitting use of gas tax money for bicycle paths received unanimous approval from the Senate Transportation Committee.

"I think this vote clearly indicates that legislators are beginning to realize they must respond to the exploding popularity of bicycling. Over 75 million Americans will be bicycling this year and over 100 Californians will die because of bicycle-automobile collisions," Gregorio said.

Brothers Arrested In Separate Cases

Two San Francisco brothers were arrested in two separate cases on Monday. Daly City police were involved in both.

Andy Redmon, of 1 Blythdale Street, was taken into custody by San Francisco police on a strongarm robbery charge, and his brother James Redmon, 19, was arrested by Daly City patrolmen after a hot chase in a car later found to be stolen.

The arrests were two hours apart.

At 1:30 a.m., while on foot patrol on Geneva Avenue, Daly City patrolman Jewel Bacon was informed of a strong armed robbery in progress at 626 Sawyer Avenue, San Francisco.

Bacon ran the one-half block. He saw two men beating up a third on the ground, police said.

The two suspects fled, but Bacon caught John Werner, 21, of 1857 Sunnydale, San Francisco.

The other suspect, Andy Redmon, was picked up by San Francisco police a short time later.

The victim, Jose Diaz of 570 Campbell Street, San Francisco, suffered facial cuts and bruises and complained of pains near the ribs, police said.

Diaz lost $20, police said. A watch, ripped from his wrist, was recovered.

Both Redmon and Werner were booked into San Francisco Jail.

At 4 a.m. tday, Daly City patrolman John Mallin naticed that a 1959 model car traveling south on Mission Street, near Vale, did not have the current year's registration tab on its rear license plate.

He pursued to check, but as he did the car sped away at high speed.

Patrolman Tom Martin soon joined in the chase, at speeds up to 75 and 80 miles an hour. The car went off the road and into some bushes at Holy Cross Cemetery in Colma.

Two men in the car jumped out and went into the thicket, where Mallin and Martin arrested them.

Booked into the Daly City Jail were James Redmon, 19, and Lerry Thompson, 21, of 3833 San Bruno Avenue, San Francisco.

Student Survives Devil's Slide Crash

A 19-year-old San Bruno college student who said he succumbed to an "urge" to drive his car over Devil's Slide Saturday became only the third person in the past 20 years to do so and live to tell about it.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Outman said the youth suffered mulfiple abrasions and lacerations of the face and body and a shoulder injury. After emergency treatment at Mary's Help Hospital he was taken to Chope Community Hospital for psychiatric observation.

Outman said the small foreign car landed in a crevice about 300 feet down the face of the 500-foot cliff. Three members of the Pacifica Fire Department rescue squad, lowered on a cable, brought the victim up in a litter. He was conscious and coherent, they said.

The victim told Outman that he had been despondent for several days but did not say what was bothering him. Saturday he decided to drive to the beach, he related, and "as he passed Devil's Slide he decided to end his life by driving the car over the cliff." He told Outman that an "urge came over me."

His nerve failed him, however, as he drove southbound on Cabrillo Highway through the slide area, he told Outman. He made a U-turn, however, he related, and headed back north at high speed. As he entered a curve at the southern end of the slide area, he swerved the car to the left, crossed the southbound lane and flew over the precipice.

PeeWee Teams Set San Bruno Cleanup Day

Members of San Bruno's Pee Wee baseball league teams will hold a clean-up day a San Bruno's City Park on Thursday at 2 p.m.

Eight to ten year olds will bring paper bags from home to pick up the litter in the park.

Team members, who will wear team caps, originally had intended to carry the bags of liter home; but now, a truck will be provided to gather the boys' bags.

The program has been planned to show the gratitude of the boys to the people of San Bruno for the use of the park for their games. Parents hope that the baseball players will also gain an appreciation for the need to keep the park clean.

Mothers of the members of the 12 teams will help organize the effort and feed the boys when they complete the job.

Weight Training in South S.F.

Weight Training Classes for teen-agers and adult men is being offered by the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department.

The fee program is a summer offering to boys in the junior and senior high schools and adult men.

Youth Held in Theft

A youth unplugged and ran away with a $300 bass guitar while its owner was playing another instrument at the Silver Dollar Bar, South San Francisco police claimed Saturday.

Several patrons pursued the suspect after he ran out a back door. He got away, but not before he fell and left the instrument behind, police said.

Polo Velega, 22, San Francisco, was arrested later in the area.

The victim was Charles Shults, 43, of Fremont.

Velega was charged with grand theft.

Panel Studies Coast Salvation

The Environmental Quality Action Committee of San Mateo County was told Wednesday that the answer to one important local concern could be found in a four line ditty:

"Who's going to save the coast.

Who's going to save the coast,

"I'll tell you, brother,

"It's a man who gains the most."

Victor Pottorff, a young legislative advocate who represents the County Board of Supervisors in Sacramento, said that he had overheard the song one afternoon while strolling on the Capitol Mall.

Pottorff told the committee, meeting at the Commodore's House at Coyote Point Yacht Harbor, that a number of bills now pending in the legislature are intended to deal with environmental problems such as the Coast's salvation.

He noted that they generally involve changes in the structure of government and warned the committee that these should be considered in deciding what environmental legislation it might support.

The committee, formed nine months ago, is attempting to pull together diverse community elements to focus on the problem of how to better the environment. It includes representatives from some 35 government, industry, and labor organizations.

Pottorff said that the committee should raise questions including:

What is the purpose and role of local government to be?

Will a new level of government be created or an old one replaced?

Will something be created that will be unwanted five or ten years from now?

Pottorff said that the gist of several bills now being considered is to determine at what level — county, regional, or state — Coastside development will be controlled.

He said that one proposal in the Assembly, AB 1471, coupled with its Senate companion, SB 1555, would increase regional and state control.

He emphasized that all environmental bills are being closely scrutinized and vigorously debated, but that no one is particularly happy about what's likely to happen to them.

"All the legislation will eventually go to a conference committee," Pottorff predicted, "and many people say that they will settle for no legislation before accepting a conference bill."

"The legislative process must be working because everyone involved is offended," he quoted San Francisco Assemblyman Willie Brown.

Pottorff added that one bill intended to create a Conservation and Development Agency for nine Bay Area counties might pass basically as written if assigned to a favorable committee in the Senate.

The measure, sponsored by Assemblyman John Knox, cleared the Assembly on June 24.

Nevertheless, Pottorff delivered this caveat:

"I think you may have to support a bill with reservations; maybe the best approach is to say what you want to come out of all the various bills."

Obscenity Trial Date to Be Set

A trial date will be set at 10 a.m., July 13, in the Municipal Court chambers of Judge Walter Capaccioli for Arnold Haskin and Glen Bumgardner, coowners of a controversial San Bruno adult bookstore.

Haskin and Bumgardner were arrested last month and charged with selling obscene material.

Delightful San Mateo Picnic Areas

How about a picnic today?

San Mateo county is fortunate to have so many delightful areas for picnicing. The mountains or the seashore are constantly changing and offer a fantastic variety of activities as well as remarkable opportunities for "getting - away - from - it - all" and relaxing amidst the wonders of nature.

First choice for today would be a leisurely drive down the peninsula to Woodside, just to the west of Redwood City. Almost everyone in this area is acquainted with the lovely mountainous areas that stretch between the county's urban centers and the Pacific Ocean but if you haven't traveled that way for a while today is the day to enjoy it once again.

Huddart Park is only a short distance from Woodside on Kings Mountain Road, and during these summer days, you can plan to make a real outing of this jaunt. The park opens at 8 a.m. so you and the children can drive down early, search out a good locale for your picnic and playing and have lunch.

Entertaining the children will be no problem for the park is well equipped to meet the needs of every age group. For the adults and older children there is an archery range and horse back riding along the wooded trails. For the small fry the grounds are equipped with play equipment and then there is hiking along the nature trails for all ages. There is a distinct possibility that the children will play so hard that they will be agreeable to a short siesta following lunch.

If you have made the proper arrangements with your spouse he can shoot right down Skyline Boulevard after work and join his family for a bar-b-que in the twilight hours. The park will be open until 10 p.m. so there will be ample time for everyone to soak up some of that relaxed feeling of being on a short vacation before you have to reload the car and trek back to the city. If you should decide to take this mini-trip on the weekend you might want to make plans to stay overnight in the parks camping area. Best call ahead for the camping to check on the availability of space.

Camping is $2 a car per family each night. The fee for picnicing is 50 cents. Should you take your Cub den or the Girl Scouts you will need to notify the park officials in advance by calling 369-1441.

No matter which type of outing you are planning, don't forget to take your crayons and paper so the children can record their experiences with "rubbing" reproductions of all the exciting things they see!

If you would like a little more variety on your trip insert a drollop of history by visiting the Old Tripp Store down the road a little way at 471 Kings Mountain Road.

The store, a historical site, was built in the mid 1800s and served as a trading center for the loggers, miner and lumberjacks who inhabited the area in that era.

The store, now known as the Woodside Store, is closed on Mondays and Tuesdays but is open almost all day the rest of the week, (it is closed during the noon hour). Admission is free and the children will be fascinated by the antiques that once served as the furnishing for this remarkably well preserved memento of a past age.

Or, you may want to picnic and then drive over to the Bayshore and pay a visit to Marine World on Marine World Parkway in Redwood City. You'll need to bring your pocket book if you take in this fine show for the price tag is $3.50 for adults and $2 for children between the ages of six and 12. Children under five are free. Marine World is well worth the money and rest assured, that admission fee is the only charge you Lorraine Heath will have to pay, other than for food or souviners.

The children enjoy the "showier" portions of the park, the trained whale and the dolphins, but for the adults the colorful and varied life in the tidepools is sometimes far more interesting.

There is a lot of walking, but the management has provided for a 20 minute "cruise" about the waterways and you can rest your feet and leave the work to the boat's pilot as you see portions of the fascinating water world.

This is the type of stop that can be short or lengthy, according to the time you have available for browsing about among the various exhibits of fish and birds and whether or not you take in the water show. The water skiing is fun and the comedy and thrills of the motor boat races is spellbinding for the under 15 set and more than mildly entertaining for the over 30 crowd!

MR. AND MRS. FRANK LAMONT SR. of Millbrae were honored on their fiftieth wedding anniversary at a gathering of their family and friends Saturday. LaMont formerly operated a realty firm in Westlake region of Daly City until three years ago. He and Mrs. LaMont, the former Ruth Heffernan of San Francisco, were married on July 2, 1921, 10 years after he came to this country from Greece. The couple has two children, Frank D. LaMont Jr. and Mrs. Jack Morison, both of Millbrae.

NELL NORTON

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Today, we start with a recipe for a delicious and attractive entree. This makes a wonderful company dish as it is so easy to prepare and serve. The good cook who gave me this recipe is Mrs. Deanna Price of Daly City.

BEEF PARMESAN

2 eggs
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
2 cups seasoned bread crumbs
1 pound fresh mushrooms
½ cup water
1 can beef consomme
1 clove garlic, minced
½ cup Parmesan cheese

Boil the cleaned mushrooms in the half cup water for 15 minutes. Drain and reserve the water.

Beat the two eggs lightly, add the fourth teaspoon each pepper and garlic salt. Dip the pieces of steak into the eggs and then into the 2 cups seasoned bread crumbs. Brown the meat in butter and olive oil. Place in a large 13x9-inch baking dish and top with the mushrooms.

Combine the half cup reserved water, one can beef consomme and minced garlic. Pour over meat. Sprinkle with the half cup Parmesan cheese.

Bake in 350-degree oven for 1 hour.

NOTE: The recipe calls for one pound of mushrooms, but you may use less if your budget or family tastes so indicate.

ALONG WITH THIS entree I'd recommend the following dish. It is a combination of rice, lima beans and seasonings that is delicious.

RICE AND VEGETABLE DRESSING

1 cup uncooked rice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon minced marjoram
2¼ cups chicken broth
1½ teaspoons salt
1 package (10 oz.) frozen lima beans

Spread the one cup uncooked rice in a shallow pan, place in oven and heat at 350 degrees until golden, about 10 minutes. Stir frequently to prevent burning.

Melt the two tablespoons butter in a 3-quart saucepan. Add the one cup chopped onion, one tablespoon minced parsley and one teaspoon marjoram. Cook until onion is tender. Add the two and one-fourth cups chicken broth, one and one-half teaspoons salt and package frozen lima beans. Simmer covered for five minutes. Add the toasted rice. Reduce heat; cover and simmer about 20 minutes or until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed.

Makes 6 servings.

I SOMETIMES HAVE QUALMS about sharing so many rich dessert recipes with you good cooks. I fear we will all end up in a reducing studio and it will be my fault. But I can't resist passing on this easy dessert.

EASY BANANA CAKE

4 large ripe bananas
Vanilla wafers
½ pint whipping cream

In a 9-inch square pyrex baking dish place a layer of vanilla wafers. On this slice a layer of bananas. Spread whipped cream over bananas. Repeat wafers, bananas and whipped cream.

Cover with foil and refrigerate for at least six hours. Serve small portions, it's mighty rich!

The Associated Press and the United Press International have long been associated with supplying millions of words of news from around the world. Radio listeners have been familiar with the credit "from the wires of the Associated Press" or "the wires of United Press International."

Both news gathering organizations have ventured into other fields. For the past ten years or so UPI has been operating something called "United Press Audio".

This is a voice service supplied member stations by long distance telephone lines. At certain periods each day voice reports are sent to stations which in turn tape the broadcasts for using in later news broadcasts. AP after a few years found that they had to do this to compete.

About the same time as they started the audio reports for radio stations, UPI news reels were organized

S.S.F. Film Series Set

THE POST'S Family Forum

A summertime family film festival is being offered to the public at St. Paul's Hall, Spruce near Miller, in South San Francisco each Thursday during July and August.

Walt Disney feature films will be shown in the Fellowship Hall, beginning at 7:30 p.m., sponsored by St. Paul's United Methodist Church.

A church spokesman said that it is difficult to find a current motion picture suitable for the whole family, and Disney films have been well-produced and acted, with a good story line that captures the imagination, but still free of some elements that make so many current feature films unsuitable for family entertainment.

All films to be shown on these summer Thursday nights will be from Walt Disney Studios, most in color.

A minimal donation of 50 cents for children and $1 for adults will be asked to cover costs of the rentals.

The first movie was "The Mooncussers" on July 1.

Other dates and titles are July 8, "Fun and Fancy Free;" July 15, "Greyfriars Bobby;" July 22, "Guns in the Heather;" July 29, "Kidnapped;" August 5, "Prince and the Pauper;" August 12, "Sancho, the Homing Steer;" August 19, "Bristle Face;" and August 26, "Emil and the Detectives."

S. Bruno Fuchsia Society to Meet

The San Bruno Branch of the American Fuchsia Society will meet at 8 p.m., Friday, at the Decima Allen School, 875 West Angus Avenue.

In addition, color slides of some famous European gardens will be shown. There will be a plant table and refreshments. All those interested in the culture of fuchsias are invited to attend.

Four local gardens will be open to the public in a garden tour sponsored by the San Bruno Branch on July 11, from 1 to 5 p.m.

These club members will have open gardens at that time:

Mr. and Mrs. Tod Anderson, 2730 Crestmoor Drive, San Bruno; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beebe, 1266 Morningside Avenue, South San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. George Harrje, 260 Lewis Avenue, Millbrae; and Mr. and Mrs. John Van Huystee, 1024 Northwood Drive, San Carlos.

Bridegroom Westmoor Grad

Belmont will be the first address for Mr. and Mrs. James Robert (Tex) Prichard who are honeymooning at Lake Beryessa after their marriage at Woodside Village Church.

The bride is the former Pamela Deneen Kramer, daughter of Mrs. Jody Kramer of San Mateo and Herman J. Kramer. She is an alumna of Aragon High School.

Carol Horton served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Rita Prichard, sister of the bridegroom, and Pattie Wolfe. Each of the trio was dressed in a floral flocked chiffon over hot orange silk pantsuit.

Howard Sherwood was best man for the benedict who is the son of Virginia Prichard of Dallas, Tex. Ushers were Jerry Dechler and Greg Kramer, Pamela's brother.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given at the Mainliner Club in San Mateo.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Westmoor High School. Susan Prichard of Dallas is his sister.

Holy Angels Church Rite

Holy Angels Church in Daly City was the setting for the recent marriage of Frances Augustyn and Robert Schenone.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Augustyn of South San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schenone, also of South City, are the benedict's parents.

Winnie Augustyn served as her sister's maid of honor and secondary attendants were Stella Augustyn, another sister of the bride, and Linda Guitterez.

THE MARQUEE

My definition of a celebrity is Leonard Bernstein.

He's as gorgeous as I knew he'd be: urbane, friendly, intelligent, casually attired in a blue blazer, pink patterned shirt, red ascot and handkerchief. Grey at the temples, and shorter than he appears on the podium, the famous composer-conductor spoke enthusiastically yesterday of the revival and reworking of his 15-year-old comic operetta, "Candide" that opens tomorrow night at the Curran Theater for the Civic Light Opera.

"It wasn't a success originally because it wasn't good enough. The various collaborative elements that should have come together like a unified jigsaw puzzle didn't come together."

"All the elements were good but they didn't jibe, as they did for My Fair Lady or West Side Story. Its largely a matter of luck. I'd spent three years on it before the opening and have again reworked it for this revival. It's very different."

After the play by Lillian Hellman, who suggested that Bernstein do the score, didn't make it on Broadway, there were numerous concert versions of it. Sheldon Patinkin, who Bernstein claims "knows more about the music than I do," rewrote the book and they've expanded the production to include lights, costumes and sets.

"One of the original problems is that it ran too long. Voltaire's story is episodic and lends itself more to the stage than concert. Addition of the narrator is a life saver because he can provide verbally, the set changes, the exposition and necessary background."

'Lenny' as his friends call him, wants to write many more stage works. That's why he left his permanent conducting post at the New York Philharmonic. He's interested in writing a full fledged opera and especially music for the theater. "Mass," is his latest work that will premiere the Kennedy Center for the Arts in Washington, D.C.

Following "Candide's" seven week run in San Francisco, it goes to Los Angeles and on to New York in November. By then he'll have cornered the musical market (one wag at our meeting compared him to Neil Simon's prolific creativity); with a revival of "On The Town" also on Broadway and his annual stint with the Philharmonic orchestra.

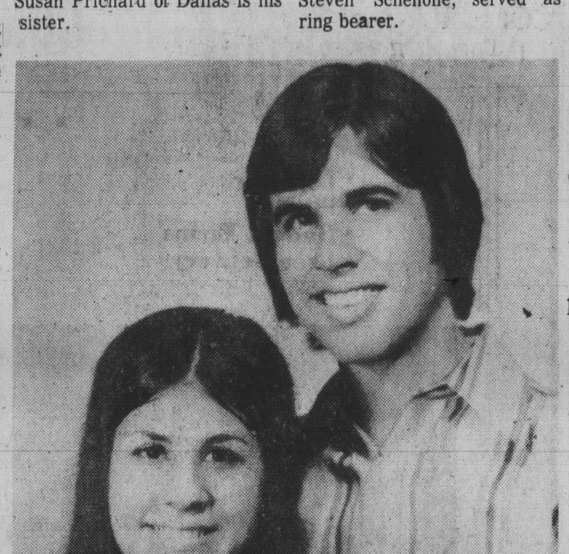
"Except for the clarinet sonata I wrote at 21, everything I've ever written has been for the theatre. You might classify 'Candide' as having more of a relation to Offenbach and Johann Strauss or Traviata, than to Naughty Marietta or Show Boat. I've had offers to do it as a cartoon, a ballet and an extravaganza like "Around The World In 80 Days' but I have to make sure it works this time first."

As for his headline support of the Panthers last year, he corrected the inference by saying his involvement was with Civil Rights and 21 men he felt deserved a fair trial.

"I couldn't disagree with the Panthers Party more. What I do for civil liberties day to day doesn't get into the press. But this one and the Berrigan party were fund raisers. Both were my wife's idea and I was like a guest in my own house."

An active worker with young people, he spends several weeks a year at Tanglewood and on various advisory boards. His commitments prevent him from working with the California Youth Symphony Orchestra in Switzerland this summer.

"The hope for the Broadway theater is the abandonment of crass commercialism. There is certainly no lack of talent. Too much concentration on having a rave hit. With West Side Story, only my wife didn't call me an a--. They told me people didn't want to see the seamy side of life that people went to the theater to get away from reality."



Planning a wedding in the spring of next year are Lynda Sciandri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dante Sciandri of South San Francisco, and Donald Edwards, also of South San Francisco. Lynda is a graduate of Mercy High School now enrolled at Heald's Business College in San Mateo. Donald was graduated from South San Francisco High School.

Hawaiian Dance Lessons Start

Adult men and women looking for a little different dance may look into Hawaiian and Polynesian dance instruction offered by the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department.

The class is being held on Tuesdays, from 8 to 9:15 p.m. at the Orange Memorial Park Recreation Building.

Instruction is by Harriet Spalding, who has been associated with professional entertainment groups at San Francisco hotels and has done private instruction at her home studio.

Maura Mackesy Married

Carmel, Greece and Italy are the honeymoon destinations of Mr. and Mrs. David McDonald Jr. (Maura Mackesy) who exchanged vows at Mission Santa Clara. A reception followed at the Faculty Club at the University of Santa Clara.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mackesy of Millbrae. When she walked to the altar with her father, she was wearing a white gown fashioned with a flowing skirt, high waist and satin band.

Mrs. Dale Hillard attended her sister as matron of honor and secondary attendants included Mrs. John Brooker, another sister of the bride, Susan Chamers and Coco Brust.

Each of the girls was dressed in a long floral culotte dress of yellow, gold, blue, green and orange.

Frank Kelly was best man for the bridegroom who is the son of Mrs. Emily Price Black of Westfield, N.J. and David McDonald Sr. of Palm Springs. Ushers were Dale Hillard, John Booker, Al Bergesen and Jack Price.

The new matron was graduated from the University of Santa Clara and earned her teaching credential at UC at Berkeley. She studied her junior year at Loyola University in Rome.

David did his undergraduate work at Notre Dame University and earned his masters degree from Yale. He is now working towards his doctorate at Stanford. Margo, Sharon and John Black of New Jersey are his half sisters and brother.

The newlyweds will live in Berkeley.

and the firm started the "UPI Documentary" department which supplied year end news wrapups for television stations.

This week Associated Press revealed that it would enter the documentary field for television, for educational and video cassette markets.

The first of six initial projects will be devoted to Communist China. Bob Eunson, former San Francisco bureau chief, in charge of the program, said that "AP can make notable contribution in TV documentaries as they have done in other news fields.

THE LONGEST TELEVISION feature film ever planned and produced was announced this week by ABC television. The network which along with Screen Gems procured the rights to Leon Uris's book, "QBVII" announced that production will start in April and will take place in Hollywood, Tel Aviv, Krakow, London and other places.

ABC revealed the film will run five hours and will be scheduled over a five night period. Screen Gems paid $250,000 for the screen rights and plans on spending another $2 million in production costs.

THE UPCOMING television season with it's extra time slots to be filled locally has encouraged a lot of people to get into the television production business.

In Phoenix, two major studios have been constructed. One, the Graham studio, is being used to produce the new "Dick Van Dyke Show" and the other studio is devoted to making commercials and syndicated shows.

Frankie Fanelli, a well known Nevada entertainer has gone into production in Reno. The show is being produced at the Pioneer Theatre Auditorium with an audience. The shooting schedule takes place at 2 p.m.

For starters, so we are told, the Loreleis and Ladds, a group of 34 Reno area children, will take part in the show.

Work Weekend for DC Scouts at Tamarancho

Daly City's Troop 369 spent a recent weekend at the Marin Council's Camp Tamarancho.

Time was devoted to the development of scouting skills and to individual advancement.

Under the direction of Junior Asst. Scoutmaster Martin Dreiling, the Scouts cleared dry grass and weeds in the camp's nursery, trading post and parking areas.

Couple Wed in South SF

Mater Dolorosa Church in South San Francisco was the setting for the recent marriage of Denise Lee Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howard of South City, and Theodore Paul DePucci, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert DePucci, also of South City.

The newlyweds, who will make their first home in South City, received felicitations after the ceremony at the International Machinists Lodge in Burlingame.

The bride said her vows in a white organdy eyelet gown. Her attendants were dressed in orange print costumes.

Gail Yturriaga attended Denise as maid of honor and Sharon Howard, her sister, shared bridesmaid duties with Janice Howard and Kathy Compagno, the bride's cousins, Glennis Smith and Linda Compagna.

Dave DePucci was his brother's best man and guests were seated by Bob Baldonado, Sid Ancar, Tony Compagno, Mike Tenerowicz and Rich Rago.

The new Mr. and Mrs. DePucci are both graduates of El Camino High School. The bride is an alumna of San Francisco State and her husband is an alumnus of the College of San Mateo.

Assessed Valuation Is Up in S.M. County

A 7.4 per cent increase in the assessed value of San Mateo County property was announced Thursday by County Assessor Jack H. Estes.

Estes said the gain was higher than expected.

"When we started out," he explained, "I anticipated a figure of 5½ to 6 per cent."

The increase last year was 4.87 per cent.

The higher figure for this year makes the prediction by members of the County Board of Supervisors that there will be no tax rate increase this year look better. The tax rate is computed by figuring the county spending requirements, which were adopted Tuesday, against the assessment roll.

County Manager M. D. Tarshes said the valuation increase might result in a lower county tax rate.

"It is obviously a significant increase," he said, "more than most of us expected. The board chairman (James V. Fitzgerald) said we could hold the rate and I agreed with him. With this kind of an increase in the assessment roll, keeping in mind that we still have no final figures on fund balances and revenues, I think it is now possible that we may even have some decrease in the tax rate."

The rate will be set in August after all of the factors are known.

The grand total of assessed value, which is theoretically 25 per cent of actual market value, stands at $1.9 billion. Estes said that figure does not include the value of utility company holdings, which will be set late in the month by the State Board of Equalization. The total valuation increase, not counting the utility roll, is $133,805.855.

A 9.15 per cent increase was recorded in the unsecured roll, which is chiefly the value of assets on rented property. Estes said $22.5 million of a $25 million increase in the unsecured roll was represented by property at San Francisco International Airport, including new aircraft and buildings.

Two cities showed decreases in total valuation. San Carlos, the center of the county's electronics industry, recorded a decrease of $534,931, or .64 of 1 per cent. Estes said the value of land in San Carlos remained the same and the value of improvements went up $525,000, but that the value of personal property, chiefly machinery, equipment, inventory, furniture and furnishings in the Litton and Lenkurt electronics plants, went down $1,159,000. The decrease, the assessor said, was the direct effect of the bad economic picture in the industry.

Portola Valley lost .33 of 1 per cent of its valuation. Estes explained that new restrictive zoning regulations actually decreased the value of the large land holdings in the rural community and additional land was taken off the tax rolls through church and school exemptions.

The biggest percentage increase in the county was the 42.67 per cent jump in tiny Colma. Estes said that was mainly due to the construction of the new Gemco store.

San Bruno showed a 21.63 per cent increase. Eates said that was due mostly to a review of residential properties, which were found to be generally well below the 25 per cent standard. He notd that the majority of protests his office received because of valuation increases came from San Bruno and Burlingame, where an over-all 16.23 per cent increase was recorded.

Here is a listing of the new totals for the cities and unincorporated area along with the percentage of gain (or losses) as in the case of Portola Valley and San Carlos):

Atherton, $42,547,365, 1.04 per cent; Belmont, $59,138,054, 1.93 per cent; Brisbane, $8,347,523 7.18 per cent; Burlingame $111,698,685, 16.23 per cent; Colma, $3,227,161, 42.69 per cent.

Daly City, $139,195,428, 11.45 per cent; Half Moon Bay, $10,179,784, 8.75 per cent; Hillsborough, $55,822,673, 1.35 per cent;

Jeff Chief Withdraws Pay Bid

Frank Greenwood, superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City, withdrew a request last week for a pay increase for himself and two associate superintendents.

He told trustees rumors were "running rampant" as to what would happen July 1, when Mrs. Beverly Forrester became a member of the board.

Mrs. Forrester has not expressed support for the superintendent's policies in the past, and there has been some community speculation over Greenwood's future in the district.

He said as a show of trust, he and the associate superintendents did not want to proceed with their request.

There was no discussion on the subject by trustees.

The board did act, however, to authorize carryover of vacation days from last year to the new fiscal term for Greenwood and Associate Superintendents Roger Barthuli and Dr. Vinton Stratton.

Two Fires in S.S.F.

South San Francisco firemen fought two four-acre grass fires simultaneously Thursday.

Neither blaze endangered property, firemen said.

One started at 2:30 p.m., near Huntington and Spruce and the other at 2:37 p.m. at the rear of 113 Peck Lane.

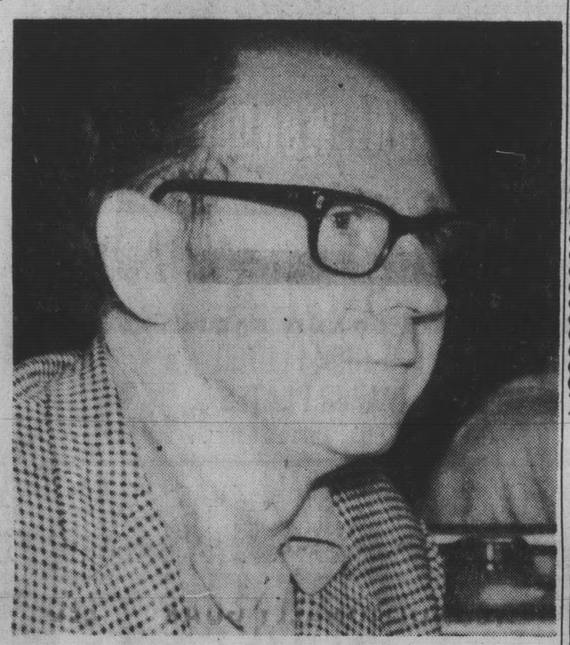
Cocktails And Fine Dining At Iron Horse

Generous cocktails at reasonable prices and delicious hot and cold hors 'd oeurves are bringing big crowds of business people to the Iron Horse restaurant in Maiden Lane, just off Kearny. The salad bar is manned daily by two chefs to prepare the salad of your choice. If you're out to see a show, the Iron Horse is located just three blocks from the Curran or Geary Theaters. There's something doing every night at this popular spot. Open Mondays through Saturdays for both luncheon and dinner . . . Top San Francisco chefs gathered at the Exposition Fish Grotto and prepared 1500 sandwiches, plus goodies, for 600 underprivileged youngsters. The town's famous Fishing Fleet then took them on a tour of the Bay all under the auspices of the San Francisco Police Department's Police Activity League (PAL) . . . Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant is currently dark, as dapper Vince Licata and his industrious crew are enjoying a few days of well-deserved vacation. The restaurant re-opens for business as usual on Monday, July 12.



ENTERPRISING Ken Pruitt, who oversees the operations of several Ken's House of Pancakes locations (he's owner and founder of the chain) and Ken's Melody Inn in Los Altos, is one busy man. His business interests also include a newly-opened pancake outlet in Hawaii. To celebrate the grand opening, Ken chartered an airplane and flew several of his friends and Peninsula business associates to the Islands for three days of festivities.

Stickney's "Secret Sauce"

Stickney's in San Mateo, like the other Stickney's locations, is particularly famous for barbecued spareribs. The secret here, of course, is in the sauce, which was developed by Adrian "Red" Stickney, founder and owner of the restaurant chain. Besides the fine array of pastries, spareribs and the sauce are the two things most often associated with Stickney's . . . Although Atherton's elegant Lord Fletcher Inn is not open for regular business on Mondays, General Manager Andy Ardito still takes reservations for private gatherings. Luncheon groups, dinner meetings, or even an all-day conference can be accommodated. . . . Besides specializing in South American cruisine, especially Peruvian dishes, Frank Torres Beach Hotel also affords diners a breathtaking view of the Pacific. Frank has even installed a lighting system along the beach, and after dinner the more venturesome can slip their shoes off and take an invigorating walk in the sand. A dinner date here is well worth the short drive to Montara.

Travels To Italy For Recipes

Joe Piccinini, owner-maitre 'd at Oreste's in San Francisco, makes frequent trips to Italy and brings back new recipes for his elegant restaurant. By making these regular trips to Europe, Joe keeps his menu up to date with the best Italian food, prepared Tuscany style — prepared under his supervision. Many fine banquet rooms are available for your group entertaining. Reservations are advisable. Serving both luncheon and dinner; intimate cocktail lounge . . . Pheast, an exciting seven-piece aggregation, is now showcased at the newly opened Creeque Alley in South San Francisco. Formerly known as The Ambassadors, this group has performed together for over five years, displaying exceptional musicianship and great versatility. See them Wednesdays through Sundays at Creeque Alley. Cocktails are served and you'll find a large dance floor . . . Among the persuasive attractions at The Sand Bar restaurant and cocktail lounge, located at Coyote Point Drive at Municipal Golf Course, San Mateo, are Shish-Kebab, Top Sirloin Steaks, Veal Cutlets and Greek Combination Dish. Full course dinners and Greek specialties include soup, salad and Greek pastry. Gus and Jim Tsavalas are your hosts in the restaurant; Bob Fischer and his son Rich are on tap to greet you in the lounge. Incidentally, Rich is a new bridegroom — and our congratulations!

Ben. Franklin's Evelyn Hodges

Evelyn Hodges, an attractive blonde waitress at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, rates our vote for being the swiftest "Lady of the Tray" set. This little lady darts about the Greenwillow dining room — from kitchen to the front cash register — so fast that you can be sure her hot food orders are never served cold. Could she have been a track star in school? . . . Songstress Lori English and the Future Trend continue to headline in the Golden Rooster Lounge at South San Francisco's Rodeway Inn. Entertainment nightly, Tuesdays through Saturdays, from 9 p.m. General Manager Ted Downes has just signed another great group to perform on Monday nights only, with July 12 being the date set for the debut. . . . Ageing makes the flavor difference at Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina District. Lew buys the finest beef available, then brings it to the peak of tenderness and flavor in special aging lockers right at the restaurant.

Finocchio's New Producer

Joel Nobel, noted producer and director from Paris, has been engaged by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Finocchio to stage the newest revue at their world-famous Finocchio's nightclub. The new show bears the unmistakable stamp of Nobel's colorful background, which has included stage stints with the famous Josephine Baker and other stars of international prominence. Joel is a native of Jamaica, and has played in musical successes in New York and on the continent . . . Although I took a brief vacation this past week, your Bright Lighter thinks he needs a few more days of rest. I've considered calling Theresa and Mary Lou of Scotty Campbell's restaurant in Redwood City to arrange for a visit at their Nippersink Manor resort in Wisconsin. Knowing these petite ladies, they would have me "casing" every antiques shop between here and Milwaukee. Would you believe they are still adding to their collection . . . The summer tourist season is certainly here, and countless visitors are converging on San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf. One of the busiest dining spots is A. Sabella's, which is enjoying one of the best years in the history of the four-generation-old restaurant.

The Gusts Celebrate 24 Years

Congratulations are in order for Lorraine and Nick Gust, who celebrated their twenty-fourth wedding anniversary last week. In case you're from out-of-town: The enterprising Gusts own and operate three successful restaurants on the shores of Rockaway Beach in Pacifica — Nick's, The Moonraker, and the Papagayo Room. And right here Bright Lights wishes to remind you that the "2 for the price of 1" coupon offer featured at the Papagayo Room has been extended through July 31. You have a choice of a Steak Picado or Large Combination Plate, with the least expensive dinner being free when presenting the coupon to your waitress. Valid Wednesdays through Sundays, Holidays excluded. . . . The Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto doesn't have Tom Jones or Engelbert Humperdinck entertaining, but Edmundo Rivan, the South American guitarist has been compared to them. He plays for dinner music and late hour fun. . . . Phil Lehr has introduced another luscious new dessert at the Steakery, in downtown San Francisco. It's Prune Pernod, prepared by the waiter at your table, and served flaming in a beautiful silver stirrup cup.

College Pay Raise Disputed

Teachers in the San Mateo Junior College District are not happy with a modest pay raise proposed by the administration.

Speaking at last week's special meeting of the Board of Trustees at the College of San Mateo, was Will Pinney, chairman of the combined faculties' salary committee and a member of the CSM English Department. He told the board members that the administration's proposed 4.6 per cent increase in wages and fringe benefits did not come close to what the teachers had expected this coming fiscal year.

Pinney said his committee, working with an established formula which had been used in prior years in the district, came up with a figure of 5.88 per cent and that there was now an apparent breakdown in negotiations with the district.

Pinney said he was speaking before the board in a spirit of wonderment, anger and some tension. He noted that this is the first time in more than a decade that the teachers have given the administration and the board any kind of a concerted hassle on the issue of money.

The reason, Pinney explained, is that the chancellor, Clifford Erickson, has decided not to use an established cost-of-living formula which, Pinney said, has been the basis for faculty raises in the past.

Pinney said the chancellor had told the salary committee that the district would not present the board with a salary proposal until the committee had had a chance to get back to its teachers to inform them of the change in the district's bargaining procedures. Pinney said the chancellor has done that by presenting the board with the proposal at this time.

"Now," Pinney said, "We are unprepared to respond."

The difference in what the teachers want and what the district has proposed would be about $120,000 in the new budget, according to one district source. That total would cost the taxpayers less than a cent on their tax rate, he said.

Board members and district officials said the district is committed to spending no more than seven cents of an 11-cent tax override during the coming fiscal year. The teachers' 5.88 figure would cause problems in keeping the district's budget in line with promises made during the override campaign, they said.

Board President Robert Tarver said, "During the campaign, we made some specific promises. Now, these are more than difficult times. I think this proposal is adequate. I represent the taxpayer. I was set at 4.5 per cent. But I think this 4.6 per cent will be representative of other districts."

The administration and the salary committee are scheduled to meet again to talk about the distribution of money in the 4.6 figure (between actual pay raises and fringe benefits.)

The issue will come back to the board at its next regular meeting at the College of San Mateo today.

College Responds to PMA

The Board of Trustees of the San Mateo Junior College District and the district's administration have responded to a set of five proposals made by a committee of the Peninsula Manufacturing Association.

It was found, after studying the recommendations, that some of them have already been put into effect, one of them would be impractical and uneconomical and that another, in part at least, would be illegal.

According to a memo to the board from District Chancellor Clifford Erickson, suggestions to pool administrative support requirements at a single college, to update all vocational programs and to form a citizens management advisory committee to study the workings of the district have already been either implemented or are under study at this time.

A recommendation that all programs not directly related to student education for either continuance of education toward a bachelor's degree or a specific vocational endeavor be totally supported by student fees would be illegal, Erickson said, because of state laws relating to students under the age of 21.

He added, "Adult fees presently imposed for community service offerings are designed to offset the direct cost of these offerings. Adult fees also are charged for evening classes in the colleges' regular educational programs."

On the final proposal, that autonomy be scrapped in favor of one centralized authority, Erickson said, "It is strongly held that an institution operating with a high degree of autonomy is better able to tailor its educational programs successfully to the unique needs of the communities in its service area and that there is greater motivation in such an institution to seek new and better ways to meet its responsibilities."

The board decided to send the PMA a copy of the chancellor's explanations and to have the chancellor and perhaps some members of his staff attend a meeting of the group's education committee to explain again the rationale behind the district's operation and philosophy.

JC Trustee Is Honored

Members of the San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees and Chancellor Clifford Erickson presented Trustee Elio Fontana with a plaque of appreciation June 29 after a special meeting of the board.

Fontana, who was defeated for re-election in April, was praised for his two years of service to the district.

Fontana said he was pleased with having served the district. He urged the board to continue its policy of rotating meetings among all three campuses. He also praised recommendations by Trustee Francis Pearson, particularly one urging the trustees to seek a management study of the district operation.

Fontana notes that he felt the management survey ought to be done by a committee of local experts rather than by an outside firm.

Fontana's seat on the board was won by San Mateo's James Tormey.

Alley Plan Is Discarded

Developers of Podesta Manor tract have revised their plans excluding a 28-foot rear driveway and a half street along Lisbon Avenue in Daly City.

The new plans call for improving all of Lisbon Street and discarding the idea of a rear alley access to garages.

The city council earlier had expressed concern over limited lighting and security along the rear street.

S.S.F. Cook Is Robbed

A Kentucky Fried Chicken cook was robbed of $60 Wednesday by a man who apparently thought the victim had all the day's receipts.

Police said Charles E. Hughes, 21, was walking to his car at about 11 p.m. when confronted by a man with a gun in the parking lot at 111 El Camino Real, South San Francisco.

Police said the suspect left on foot.

According to police reports the man, described as a slender white male about 20 to 25 years old with reddish brown hair and a reddish brown full beard, realizing the receipts weren't there, told Hughes to lie on the ground and took Hughes' wallet.

THE POST

A Feature Potpourri

Frank LaPierre

Post-Times Writer

THE LONG FOURTH of July holiday is over—at least for another year. Once again California topped the list of deaths by accident. It's not easy maintaining this status every year, but somehow we succeed in killing ourselves off.

This year we decided to motor to Sparks, Nevada, where Debbie Reynolds staged a star spangled show for us at The Nugget. Sunday night the desert sky was lit from horizon to horizon with a great old-fashioned fireworks display. Just about every campsite and picnic ground was filled to capacity by city folks "roughing it" for the weekend in their mobile homes. These "homes," which some still laughingly call "trailers," have everything from built-in kitchens to showers and baths. What a way to travel.

On the return trip the missus and I decided to beat the heat and the traffic and drive through Grass Valley. Just about every house we passed had Old Glory proudly hung outside. On the car radio vice president Spiro Agnew was filling the airwaves with his rhetoric from Saigon. He had just finished telling airport crowds that the "news media" should be charged with espionage for the way it stoutly stuck up for the Communists.

SO MUCH FOR THAT. It was a great Fourth. And no wild allegations spoiled it. Miss Reynolds sang "Tammy" and all those great old hits of the last decade. She kissed old men on the head. And she smiled at me. The way she danced, sang and jumped around at her age (around 40tyish) made the wife feel secure. Unfortunately the amount of car crashes and the wholesale slaughter of man and beast on the highways made a dent in that feeling of security.

IN DALY CITY kids will continue to light and toss firecrackers long past the Fourth. It happens every year and this year will not be an exception, we'll wager. (I HATE that word after coming back from Nevada.) Everyone blames the police for not cracking down on bootleg firecrackers. On the other hand if they do, the first persons to get uptight are usually parents of some brat caught tossing the darn things. "He's only a boy, after all," is the common argument. Lock 'em up, we say.

STILL IN D.C. we find the firemen still shooting off sparks. They're upset over the city's alleged "take it or leave it" pay raise. Some smoke-eaters want to strike, but cooler heads have argued against breaking the law. And it IS against the State law for a fireman to walk off the job.

OVERHEARD AT a North County restaurant: Hostess: They're putting Silver on your table right now. Customer: Who do we look like, the Lone Ranger and Tonto? (That's what we thought when we heard it!)

ITEM OF INTEREST — Didja all see where those PAST and PRESENT city officials in Jersey City were convicted of (gasp, choke) taking kickbacks from contractors working on city jobs? (How COULD they DO such a dastardly thing?)

Mrs. Segal Works Behind the Scenes

By JOHN HORGAN

Marj Segal is a middle class guerrilla in the kindest sense of the word.

Her name usually comes up only when there is a brewing protest in the air. Typically, she thrusts herself into a controversy which may or may not have been publicly hasseled over, raises hackles all around and then drops out of sight until the next dispute surfaces.

As she sees it, her job is to bring the issues to the attention of the public and to expose injustice. However, she is only rarely physically involved in any kind of protest.

Mrs. Segal, the wife of a Millbrae dentist, likes to think of herself more as being behind - the - scenes rather than up front, out there in the firing lines where actual confrontation is waged.

The executive secretary of the San Mateo Conference on Religion, Race and Social Concern and a lay member of the Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco's Commission on Social Justice, she said this week that, yes, she does feel guilty sometimes about her role.

"I've had to do a lot of soul-searching about this," she said. "Sometimes I think, what a hypocrite. But the movement (the drive towards social justice needs spokesmen at all levels. It's not my fault I married a dentist in the white community. I get very emotionally involved in all of the issues and I'm usually right in the middle of them on the phone. But there is a physical removal and sometimes I do feel guilty about that."

Still, regardless of your feelings about her and about her stands on the pressing questions of the day, it is hard to argue with the effect of her technique. Simply, it has worked rather well.

Her particular brand of prodding and pricking of the various institutions has wrought changes.

A case in point — one which she likes to mention with some pride — was the dispute between parents' factions at St. Matthew's School, San Mateo, over the use of the San Mateo Elks Club for an eighth graders' picnic.

By injecting the public spotlight on that issue, she said, the protesting parents as well as other interested groups managed to get the parish to state it would not use the local club again until it changed its membership policy of racial discrimination.

Ironically, when the time came for pickets to march in front of the church one Sunday morning, Mrs. Segal had already left for a vacation in Europe. She has resigned herself to operating in this fashion, however.

The mother of three grown children, she lives in a fashionable hillside home which overlooks the entire North Peninsula. She said she spends perhaps 15 hours a week on the telephone and at meetings relating to the pressing issues of social justice which afflict this area.

She first got interested in social concerns in a really concerted way more than six years ago when she met Father Dermid Cox of San Jose. She and Father Cox worked on a plan to consolidate parish social justice committees but that fell through tragically when the prist was murdered on the night of May 30, 1965.

Then, in the summer of 1966, she and other residents of the mid-Peninsula met at the College of San Mateo to take part in a seminar entitled, "A Community Looks at Itself." Out of that grew the present San Mateo Conference which meets each week at the St. James AME Zion Church.

Mrs. Segal became an official lay member of the Archdiocesan Commission on Social Justice a year later.

Her work on the San Mateo Conference has had its peaks and valleys. But, in the main, Mrs. Segal feels the group has accomplished a great deal since its inception nearly five years ago.

Again her role with the Conference, as she sees it, is to push and shove with just enough persistence to get the body of members to act.

"I can't see tip-toeing around on some of this stuff," she explained. "I know that when I say something a lot of people there really have the same thoughts. So, why not ask searching questions? But it's really better if everyone gets there (to a conclusion or opinion) on their own."

At the outset, the Conference, like other similar organizations, was mainly concerned about racial discrimination. Now, Mrs. Segal sees the purposes of the group to be changing.

"There is a need to establish some new priorities now," she said. "We have to find the way we should go in the Seventies. It's time to organize the white middle class. You can't keep taking the Great White Father approach of the liberals. Blacq people don't want that. They never did. They resent it. They don't need us all the time at all. If they want us they'll ask and then we ought to do anything he can to help out."

"The Conference is great as a public forum. But it hasn't reached its potential. My whole commitment is to these things and I have the time to do it. We need more members with time like mine. We need more leadership. Some people hate the sitting around and listening. Some want to be more activist. But I certainly don't want us to put ourselves in a position to witchhunt."

Still, she said, the idea of the Conference is a very good one. "There is a lot of work to be done. And you can't do it on an individual or single church basis.

She has some practical knowledge of the results of ecumenism from her experience in her own family life.

A Millbrae resident for 39 years, Mrs. Segal's mother was a Protestant, her father a Catholic and her husband a Jew.

She admits, however, to having led a somewhat sheltered existence.

"I still don't know what real poverty is. I don't know what it's all about. But I feel lucky when I have experiences that give me some insight into that world. Many of those things have been extremely rewarding."

Through it all, she hasn't lost her sense of humor either

Talking about the philosophy of a friend who is now at Notre Dame University in Indiana, she mused that perhaps his attitude now could best be summed in the phrase:

"Let's boycott one for the Gipper."

The Stunned, Dazed, Frightened Recruit

By SAM CHANDLER

Daly City Librarian

"Sunshine Soldiers" is the day by day account of a man's experience in basic training, which seems to many soldiers to be a device the army uses to strip them of their individuality.

Sam Chandler

As an introduction of his journal, Peter Tauber quotes Peter B. Bourne: "When a recruit arrives he is plunged into an alien environment, and is enveloped in a situation without relief. He is stunned, dazed and frightened . . . The recurit receives little, or erroneous information about what to expect which tends to maintain his anxiety . . . Basic training is unique in American society." As millions of men before him have done Peter Tauber reported to a reception where he found that men "like rats were exposed to a phychologist maze for the first time."

During his first week, Private Tauber saw men tumble and scream as they tried to negotiate the hurdles of an obstacle course, and for their pains, they were dragged to their feet by burley sergeants and prodded like horses.

At night when the recruits could lie in their beds and revert back to being themselves, drill sergeants walked through the barracks and awakened those men who were violating "sleeping regulations." For punishment their mattresses were rotated until the recruit was happy to face the right way and remain a soldier even while he slept.

As the days and weeks rolled on Private Tauber and his fellows, mostly reservists, were molded into soldiers by a "ritual of irrational authority, mindless bureaucracy, staggering inefficiency, relentless psychological pressure and general choas."

For Pvt. Tauber perhaps the most painful part of basic training was the realization that ritual was actually changing the men. He records how their typical American attitudes towards themselves, other men and their country changed until they became hard, cynical men with their mouths full of profanity and their minds with confusion. Not until the last day, however, did he realize that they had become fighting men but not soldiers.

At the last parade they filled the air with "stuff it babe," "get the son - of - a - bitch," and other words that charged the air. Meanwhile the CO stood on the reviewing stand and cried "I'm proud of you men."

"Sunshine Soldiers" was written to present one man's point of view, yet it contains enough that it seems a common experience to the American Soldiers who have passed through basic training during the last two hundred years to relate it to some classic tales that every veteran understands. Among such titles are "From Here To Eternity" and "The Objectors" from World War II; "All Quiet On The Western Front" and "What Price Glory" from World War I. "The Red Badge of Courage" from the Civil War, and the journals of soldiers who fought in the American Revolution.

Active Recreation Programs in County

San Mateo County and nearly all of its cities have active recreation departments and parks geared to give summer vacationing youngsters, older folk, and the Senior Citizens, what is perhaps the widest range of fun activities offered on a public basis anywhere in the United States.

Participation in most of these activities is free and only a few of the special projects ask a nominal fee for materials and occasional travel costs. It is possible for any child who wishes to enjoy a whole summer of organized fun without any cost at all. Much useful and cultural instruction is included in the various free programs.

Almost every kind of sport is available. Recreation leaders have these sports arranged at various age levels and suitably planned to avoid overexertion and necessary safety factors.

Ideally, participants will find that recreation aides can help them to set their own schedule of leisure events, comfortably combining those that will schedule might include tennis and tennis instruction, art lessons and projects, swimming, and quiet play or reading recreation.

The full list ranges all the way from aquatic adventures to zoological field trips, taking in such matters as music, theatricals, card playing for adults, hiking, birdwatching, special fun for tiny tots, and a host of other assorted activities.

It was not always thus. Public recreation, apart from playgrounds, was not widespread anywhere in the nation until the 1930 when the unemployment of the depression led to extensive recreational projects by the Works Progress Administration. At the time much of this was regarded as a "boondoggle" but to general surprise it turned out to be the most popular work performed by the WPA.

This had a far-reaching effect. Counties and cities sponsored WPA recreation projects and usually contributed to their support. When World War II signaled the phasing out of WPA the cities and counties found they had established a new kind of public service and that the public wanted it continued.

Public recreation has come a long way in the intervening years and has given pleasure to millions of Americans. It has also given rise to massive expansions in the field of private recreation and the establishment of thousands of private clubs concerned with recreational sports. San Mateo County also has many of these.

Parents who are not familiar with the county and city recreational programs for their children would do well to call local recreational departments for information on the activities being offered. They may find a way of keeping the kids health, happy and busy. They may also find an opportunity to do something they have always wanted to do.

Public recreation is for everyone and all it asks is the opportunity to help everyone enjoy life more.

'I'm sorry, mister . . .' the Girl Starts Out

By GEORGE GOLDING

"I'm sorry, mister, but I'm trying to get home to Sioux Falls, could you spare me change for an airline ticket?"

Sue, from Sioux Falls, South Dakota, was panhandlin around the Central Terminal building at San Francisco International Airport yesterday.

She didn't look like a hustler, but she approached only men. Except for the lady at the Travelers' Aid Society desk, who turned her away, and except for the clerk at United Air Lines' where she was sent to ask about youth fares.

Sue filled out a form, declaring herself under 21 and eligible for "youth fares," and then returned to panhandling.

"What's the story?" asked one man.

"I've been out here for three months, and I want to go home."

"Have you been working?" asked the man.

"No," said Sue.

"Just visiting around?"

"Yes."

Not "Yeah," or "uh-huh," but "yes." Her speech patterns were clear and clean, and so was she.

Tall, about five feet nine, with longish brown hair, a pink knit T-shirt blouse with long sleeves, a blue denim wrapa-round mini-skirt, plum colored panti-hose, flat shoes. Although she wandered around the Central Terminal building for perhaps a half hour, she did not attract any official attention of airport employes or police.

She carried a flat knit handbag that she clutched close to her, not nervously, but as though she didn't want to lose what little was in it.

"Do you have a family?" asked a man.

"Only my mother, in Sioux Falls."

"Couldn't you wire her for the money?"

"I wouldn't ask her for it. Too much hassle."

"How much do you have?" asked the man.

"About $40. It costs about $80."

Sioux Falls Sue approached another man, a long-haired hippie in blue jeans and flat hat. He palmed something into her hand, and continued on his way.

The hippie was the only one who visibly gave her anything.

Sue went around the ticket counters, into a passageway, and was seen talking to a young, shortish man wearing a black and white suit.

Soon she and the short man were walking down a hall toward the snackbar, to all appearances rather gaily, and talking with another young man who was tall and wore a plum colored shirt and bell-bottomed blue jeans.

They disappeared at the entrance to the airport parking garage.

News Is Quicker But Still Emotional

Through the fog and from the top of our block the hollering started. "Wuxtra" "Wuxtra" cried a newsboy, and as he came down the hill the excitement of news, real news moved through the house. At a distance it always sounded as though he was announcing the subject of the extra, but as he approached it was apparent that he was yelling "Wuxtra" all right, but that the rest of the cry was deliberately unintelligible. The only way to find out what the extra was all about was to buy a paper and we almost always did.

This was one of the ways news moved through San Francisco in the early and mid thirties. There were plenty of extras but only the really extra extra brought roving newsboys. They never disappointed. Thinking back, the only remarkable thing was that such extras occurred so seldom.

There wasn't that much hard news in those days. Life proceeded at a slower pace and there was plenty of time for the community to adjust to change. The tempo began to accelerate with the interruption of a symphony on a distant December day and the slower ways passed into history.

Since then the news has become hotter, faster and more exciting. Not unlike the proliferation of stock market transactions, the volume and impact of news has expanded radically. We don't need Alvin Toffler or Marshall McLuhan to tell us that the media as well as hard news itself have experienced wild growth. McLuhan, however, is especially helpful in explaining that while the media have become highly sophisticated the reactions of men remain emotional and largely unpredictable.

Consider the news that spanned just a few hours last week. Ali decision reversed. Pentagon report printed. Supreme Court says OK to do so. CRLA fight at long last resolved (temporarily). State of California broke (again). Cosmonauts in tragic death. 18-year-old vote amendment ratified. Reds offer to release POW's (conditionally).

These stories would have had the newsboys charging up and down the streets hourly. Add important but reasonably routine news such as the Senate refusing to cut space and defense spending, the House rejecting an anti-war rider, assorted news of strikes, deaths, politics and the market, and the deluge of information seems overwhelming. The reader or listener could hardly consume it all, without ever seriously considering the shooting of Joseph Colombo or the pregnancy of Bernadette Devlin.

Little wonder people are overcome by events. These stories require response, reaction and adjustment. They bring joy or dash hopes, give birth to dreams or engender despair. They change reality and the environment in which men must live.

This process of change is nowhere so apparent as in the circumstances surrounding the Vietnam War. The news is composed of the grist of continuing withdrawal and of revelations concerning our involvement in the first place. Each day the public is provided further proof of our departure and also of mistakes and misjudgments of the past. Reaction to this onslaught of information is bound to be upsetting and stormy.

But the manner of public response to this changing reality will form hard news itself. If our withdrawal symptoms include self accusation and serious recrimination, the decades following Vietnam could be more devisive internally than the war years themselves.

What is required is truth and an informed public. We have much to learn from this unfortunate page of history.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Post:

There is no doubt that suburban communities will accept low cost federal housing projects if the elected liberals in both parties start the ball rolling in their own neighborhoods. Ted Kennedy should open up the compound area of his Hyannisport retreat and entice thousands to settle here. Ethel Kennedy is a great crusader and she could encourage her neighbors in McLean, Virginia, to insist upon a federal complex. Romney could ask for identical buildings in Grosse Point, Michigan, and Pete McCloskey could demand that one be erected in Portola Valley.

Alioto could condemn some existing residences on his guarded street and apply for the same considerations for the non-producers who want to locate in white middle class neighborhoods. Senator Cranston could move out of his protected condominium dwelling and mingle with the masses who support his policies. Humphrey could declare that Waverly, Minnesota, can't wait for such a mammoth project, and, last but not least, we should certainly expect that LBJ would not want to be left out—naturally he could accommodate thousands on his spread in Johnson City, Texas.

Yes, once these men insist upon integrated low cost housing in their communities and prove to us that it does not destroy residential property values, all of us will fall in line and back the program. If they are not willing to set the example they have no right to use our minimal investments as a testing ground for their theories.

J. SMITH,
South San Francisco.

Edtor, The Post:

We should all be concerned with the Governor's Tax Reform Program. Taxes are soaring sky-high. Our state legislature is sitting on its hands, while the Governor tries to make ends meet with the budget. Shall we call it, "Taxation With Justifiable Representation."

This, indeed, is the "Age of the Ostrich" too many people have their heads in the sand.

We are in dire need of Welfare Reform. Too many abuses and loopholes in our present laws permit cheating and stealing at the expense of the over-burdened taxpayer. It is no longer practical to own your own home.

How much longer will this go on? Until we reach the breaking point and go bankrupt?

Today, over 14 million people in the United States are drawing Welfare. California has 19 per cent of the country's population and 16 per cent of the Nation's Welfare case load.

Let's take out the abuses and loopholes.

First Time Presentation

Toyota Tigers Top Cordero Chevvy Team

The Ladies' Slo-Pitch League of the Daly City Recreation Division, had an exciting day of play last week.

Ed Cordero Chevrolet team suffered its first defeat of the season. Doreen Daneri led the Daly City Toyota Tigers to a 7-5 victory over the Chevy team, when she connected for three doubles.

Linda Torrez and Sharon Cassidy highlighted the fielding, and catcher Freida Harmon stopped a last inning rally with a tag at home for the third out.

The Chevrolet ladies were led in batting by Ruth Stege, who went "three for three" and outstanding fielding was credited to Allie Murray and Shirley Sherwin.

The second half of the doubleheader proved to be an easy win for M.R. Salt and Peppers with a 27-7 win over the Road Runners. The Salt and Peppers tallied 38 hits with Margurite Escular, Joanne Stamps, Loretta Anderson, and Gloria Stamps taking credit for 20 hits.

The league-trailing Road Runners were supported by Judy Ventura, who came through with a double, and Margaret Blair who connected for a single and double.

Pair Accepted for Academies

Two north county men nominated for the nation's military academies by Congressman Pete McCloskey have been accepted. They are: Charles A. Harris, of 161 Fernwood Drive, San Bruno, accepted by West Point; Phillip D. Carlson, of 611 Miller Avenue, Pacifica, accepted by Annapolis.

"The strength of our nation is greatly dependent on the quality of the officers our service academies produce," McCloskey says, "I am confident that these fine young men possess the potential for superior leadership which the service academies seek."

Le Pacini

Gotta Say Something..

It is hard to know what to say about Cassius Clay, nee Muhammad Ali (or is it Muhammad Ali, nee Cassius Clay?), but a sports columnist should say something

We never particularly liked the man personally, and always did think that Rocky Marciano would have murdered him, but we also always thought that a man should lose his title nowhere but in the ring, and that Ali was not allowed to do, just as he was not allowed to make his living in this country because some rednecks judged him guilty until he was proven innocent — which is not the way you do it in America, even if you don't like a guy personally.

As a citizen we regret that a man can be stripped of his honors and of his livelihood unconstitutionally, as it turned out, and as a sports fan we detest what our government did to a great fighter.

In forcing Ali to lay off for three years, it ingrained in him a rust from which we doubt he will ever completely recover. Whether one watched Ali to see him win or get beaten, one still had the fan's unadulterated pleasure to seeing a fine athletic machine at work. Now that machine as it was is probably gone forever, and fans were cheated of a few extra years of viewing greatness, and perhaps the pleasure of seeing greatness legitimately defeated. And that may be the lasting shame of the whole affair. True greatness in any field of endeavor arrives too rarely to ever fritter it away because of the prejudices of small men in important positions.

Ironically, Ali emerges as the truly big man, the hero, of the affair; close, even, to martyrdom. By never whining or complaining, by not taking refuge in a foreign country but standing as a man ready to take whatever punishment might be meted out to him, he showed that he indeed was not a paper tiger, but a man with guts and of principle. He was hurt and almost out, but he hung in there and was saved by the bell — which in this case was the conscience and changing attitudes of the country.

WE'VE BEEN THINKING about those fines baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn handed Cleveland because of the performance bonus contracts it had tendered Sam McDowell, Ken Harrelson and Graig Nettles, and the more we think about it, the less we see anything wrong with performance bonus contracts, which are illegal in baseball. Aren't all athletic contracts performance contracts to begin with? Isn't a raise in essence a bonus?

But then, we have never seen anything wrong in an athlete betting on himself and-or his team, either, so perhaps we have a warped perspective. At least as far as Bowie Kuhn is concerned.

BASEBALL MISCELLANY (MORE): Here's some fodder for the second-guessers: In one of those televised Giant games against the Padres, Allan Gallagher was on second base with one out and pitcher John Cumberland up. It was about in the middle of the game, the Giants were down 2,0, and they weren't hitting. Cumberland, not known as a sticker, swung away and made an out, and Gallagher ended up stranded on second. The Giants did soon start hitting and eventually won the game, but there is a question inherent in the above described situation.

Why was it poor strategy not to have Cumberland attempt a sacrifice? Sure, it would have been the second out, but it's easier to score from third than from second. And when a team has to scrap for every run, the way the Giants had been, we feel they attempt the sacrifice and hope for a wild pitch, passed ball, a balk, something.

Another factor to consider is that Gallagher isn't exactly the fastest guy on the squad, and even with two outs is not an automatic score from second base, especially on a hard hit shot in front of the left fielder. But from third, even Raymond Burr could score.

Hardly anybody except this writer seems to find it amazing that Joe Torre is so easily leading the National League in hitting. Not that we overlook Torre's hitting ability, a commodity which he has always been in possession. But to be able to maintain a batting average consistently in the .370's, as Torre has been doing, takes much greater hitting than most casual fans realize. It means that Torre must be hitting shots almost every time up, because he certainly ain't getting leg hits — not batting right-handed and with his lead bottom. And we haven't heard any reports of his being extraordinarily lucky. Add the fact that Torre is basically a pull hitter and therefore no great mystery to defense, and what he has been doing has to be amazing.

Take a look at some of the hitters who have consistently been among the top 10 percentage hitters in their league throughout this season: Willie Davis, Lou Brock, Ralph Garr, Joe Pepitone, Roberto Clemente, Dave Cash, Tony Oliva, Bobby Mur-

All-Stars Perform to Climax Program

The Daly City Recreation Division's summer baseball program ended last week with the presentation of its annual All-Star program.

Seven games were featured between the various league champion and all-star teams.

The following summary includes a brief commentary on each game:

Fifth Grade — North Divison

The All-Stars defeated Hunts Teamster, 8 to 7. Rodrigo Salangsang of the All-Stars singled in Dan Cunnie in the eighth inning to give the All-Stars the lead. The winning pitcher was Tony Cooper. Salangsang went "3 for 3" and Cooper "2 for 2," along with Robert Jefferson's "2 for 2" to lead the All-Stars attack.

Fifth Grade — South Division

The Fifth Grade South Division All-Stars defeated the AAA Crusaders, 15-6. Greg Eagleton led the All-Star's hitting attack with "2 for 3," driving in three runs. Val Gonzoles had two runs batted in.

Sixth Grade—National Division

The league champion OLM Raiders defeated the Sixth Grade National Division All-Stars, 8 to 3. Ed Migale led OLM with a homerun in the first inning and scoring four runs in the game. Steve Riley had two hits and drove in three runs for the winners. Jay Bechte, OLM's pitcher went the entire nine innings for the win, striking out 11 All-Stars en route.

For the All-Stars, who actually outhit OLM 10 to 7, errors proved to be their downfall. The All-Stars used three pitchers, Doug Riley, Tim Howard and Mike Smith. They combined to strike-out 17 OLM batters, but a leaky All-Star defense allowed five unearned runs. Tim Howard led the All-Stars at the plate with a triple and two singles.

Sixth Grade — American Division

In the second game, the sixth Grade American Division All-Stars reversed things by walloping the league champion AAA Athletics, 12-3.

The Athletics didn't get rolling until the last two innings when they collected six of the eleven hits and all three of their runs.

Coach Mike Siotto didn't let the defeat ruin his birthday, saying "he was proud of his entire team and in league play they had proved themselves to be champs."

Seventh Grade — Pacific Coast Division

Roy Wockmetocah and Chris Loing combined for a two-hitter as the LBYA Pistons walloped the Al'-Stars, 8-1, at the Westlake Park North Diamond. Roy and Chris also combined pitching talents to wiff 10 of the All-Stars.

Tony Sabastiani backed up the pitching job by collecting three hits and scoring two runs. Ron Sylvia and Matt Scheffler of the All-Stars got the only two hits and Ron scored the All-Star run.

Seventh Grade — Sunset Division

The champion AAA Marauders, behind the 11 strike-out performance of Frank Socolough, defeated the All-Stars, 10-8. John Drocco led the winners at the plate with three hits while Jerry McNeil collected one hit and pitched five innings of relief for the losers.

Coaches Vs. Eighth Grade All-Stars

The Eighth Grade All-Stars defeated a team of 40 coaches, 6-2. A balanced hitting attack by the All-Stars overcame an early 2-0 lead by the coaches. The All-Stars erupted in the sixth inning for four runs and in the seventh added insurance by scoring one run.

Sam Anagnostou hit two home runs. The strike-out winners for the week were Gregg Georgakas and Gary McLane. A special activity was a bubble gum blowing contest. NORTHRIDGE PARK
By STEVE BECKER

Northridge Park fun was highlighted with a new swing, a basketball accuracy match, and a boys' and girls' carroms tournament. Our new swing, which resembles the letter T, is the first of its kind in Daly City and provides flying rides for all of its participants.

The carroms tournaments was narrowed down in the semi-finals to Kerry Gillihan, Richard Rogers, Scott Petit, and Stanley Nakamura. Although each previous game was close, Richard easily defeated Scott "the watermelon kid" by ten carroms. In the girls' bracket, Bonnie Nakamura emerged victorious as the girl' champ by defeating "Jolly" Jodi Toft. In the basketball accuracy match Ken Philps held off Scott Petit for the title, while Dave Mendelsohn finished a distant third.

A barbeque will be held today.

OUR LADY OF MERCY
By KATHY CURRY

Our Lady of Mercy started its summer program off with a bang, and it is hoped that the large attendance will continue. Many activities are being planned and OLM's special event day will be every Thursday. Our first event was a hot dog barbeque. The sun decided to overcome the gog. A softball game was held after the barbeque. The recreation leaders are hoping to combine efforts and have a bike day with Olympia on OLM's grounds.

Members of the "Great Giants" include: Willie and Garnet Elllis, Rcky Peronei, Susan Kourkoutakis, Frank Helm and Liz Barra. Carrom champion, Hiram Short, dominated play and will be a tough competitor throughout the summer. The activities are only two of the many occuring at Palisades Park. Gotta Say Something..

cer, Cookie Rojas, Don Buford, Amos Otis, Roy White. Without exception, they can all run, and half of them are left-handed batters (two are switch-hitters). And almost everyone of them hits to all fields.

A man with speed, especially if he gets that extra step down the line by batting left handed, and even more especially if he hits to all fields, can get hits many ways without ripping the ball.

Not hitting the ball hard, in fact, can be an asset. The toppers, the slow rollers, especially those hit on the left side of the diamond. Become hits. Such a hitter can do all kinds of things with a defense.

By virtue of hitting the ball to all fields he spreads the defense to begin with, but then with the threat of a bunt he compels the corner infielders to play him a little shorter, which gives him a better chance to dump the balls over their heads.

And if they play back to cut off the short liners and bloopers, they get bunted on, anyway. Speed can also coerce infielders into mistakes by making them get the ball away faster than they may be accustomed to, causing fumbles, balls to get stuck in gloves, bad throws, and just plain edginess.

Sure, there are hitters like Willie Stargell and Frank Howard who will occasionally bounce into the top 10, but you'll rarely see them in the rarified atmosphere of the .370's The Joe Torres of the world can only wait for the pitch while every defensive player anchors himself, knowing he'll be in approximate position to catch the ball, and that he doesn't have to hurry his throw.

That is why we've always suspected that Schnoz Lombardi may have been the greatest "pure" hitter of all time. He was not only twice as slow as anybody who ever played the game (or should that be half as fast?), but he was a pull hitter and had the added disadvantage of being such a savage linedrive hitter that many potential herculean blows not only never cleared the fences, but were snagged by outfielders before the drives began to pick up real momentum and rise. For all his awesome power, Schnoz never hit more than 20 homers in a season in the big leagues, and reached that figure only once. But he compiled a .306 lifetime average, twice led the NL in batting, the only catcher to ever perform that feat, and hung up averages like .343, 342, .333, .334, .330. We firmly believe that with average speed, Lombardi would have been a .400 hitter.

FOR STATISTICS BUFFS: Surprise! The Giants are second in the NL in stolen bases (behind only St. Louis). The Conigliaro brothers are 1-2 in the AL in doubles . . . Pacifica's Rich Morales is currently leading the White Sox in hitting with a .364 average. Of course, he doesn't play much, but what the hell . . . The A's pitchers lead the AL in K's.

The Phillies have had the greatest attendance increase of any team in baseball, and that's a victory in itself for local boy Frank Lucchessi (San Francisco, Foster City.

And the Giants have had the second best increase in the NL . . . Phoenix, the top Giant farm team, is at present sporting eight, count 'em, eight, .300 hitters. And they are regulars. That doesn't include Floyd Wicker and Bernie Williams, who were hitting over .300 when the Giants called them up. Of course, the Coast League this year is a hitter's league, as indicated by the fact that only one regular starting pitcher in the league has an ERA below 3.00. And guess who that is? Why, another Giant, of course — Steve Willoughby.

ANOTHER LOCAL NOTE: Oceana grad Chuck Notmeyer, who was recently crowned the California Teenage Weightlifting champion (at 132 lb.), will be the first Pacifican to advance to the finals of the U.S. weightlifting competition when he has a go at it in Cleveland on July 17.

Aquatic Skill Classes in SSF Start July 12

Two courses for the active aquatic enthusiast will be offered at the South San Francisco municipal swim pool by the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department from July 12 through July 23.

The courses to be offered are skin diving and spring board diving. The skin diving course will develop skills in the use of the mask, snorkel and fins. There will also be lectures on marine environment. The spring board diving course is designed to give instruction on diving board techniques and diving skills.

Registration will be on July 8 from 10 a.m. to noon for residents, and noon to 1 p.m. for open registration.

There is a $3.50 fee for each of these two courses.

Daly City Thug Gets $9 at Knifepoint

A Daly City man was robbed of $9 at knifepoint while he sat in his car in front of a Geneva Avenue supermarket Thursday morning.

Enzo Fanucchi, 40, said a youth armed with a hunting knife approached him about 7:10 a.m., pressed the knife against his throat and demanded his money.

As the suspect grabbed the money, Officer Charles Phillips, on routine patrol in the area, passed by the scene and the robber fled.

Phillips gave chase but lost the suspect as he crossed the county line and disappeared among the houses in the area.

Two men robbed Thomas Sutter, 34 of South San Francisco, as he stopped his car at the intersection of Interstate 280 and Hickey Boulevard in Daly City shortly after midnight.

Sutter told police the men took $48 in cash.

SSF Issues Warrant in Man's Death

A warrant has been issued by South San Francisco police for the arrest of a third person in connection with the motel death of a Redwood City salesman last week.

Being sought by police is Leonard Eldren Adams, alias Leonard Pierre, 41.

Adams formerly lived at 1431 Fifteenth Avenue in San Francisco.

Police declined to say how Adams is linked to the death of Edgar Garrison, 47, whose body was found at a South San Francisco motel June 25.

He had apparently been slipped a "mickey" in a drink and died from acute toxic poisoning, a coroner's office spokesman said.

Two women, Wanda Ann Studley, 28, and Georgia Anne Bohlen, 22, were arraigned before Municipal Court Judge Walter Capaccioli June 29 on charges of murder and robbery.

Adams is described as a black male adult, six feet, 190 pounds.

Air District Budget Grows

The Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors adopted a $3.37 million budget Wednesday for 1971-72, up about $1.3 million from this year.

Nine Bay Area counties will pay $2.8 million of the budget with the remainder coming from the federal government.

The budget is based on a district wide tax rate of two cents per $100 assessed valuation. That is, a person owning a $40,000 home will be taxed about $2 for air pollution control.

Sonoma and portions of Napa and Solano counties were added to increase the APCD's size to nine counties effective yesterday, according to annexations prescribed by the state legislature. The counties will require the location of three new pollution measuring stations.

The district has also set aside funds to increase its manpower from 108 employes to 165.

Under the approved budget, San Francisco will contribute $466,366, Santa Clara County $676,219 and Alameda County $605,465.

Man Pinned in Wreck

Henry Jordey of Daly City was injured early on Sunday when he was pinned inside his overturned pickup truck on Bayshore Freeway in Burlingame.

Jordey was taken to Peninsula hospital after being freed from the truck by highway patrolmen and Burlingame firemen.

Hospital aides said he suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and from exposure to gasoline in the face and eyes. He was transferred to Kaiser Hospital in Redwood City. Jordey is a resident of 543 San Diego Avenue, Daly City.

The accident occurred a mile north of Broadway overpass in Burlingame at 3:20 a.m. and reportedly involved only Jordey's 1950 model pickup.

Cow Palace Readies Jumper Sweepstakes

The 15th annual World's Championship Jumper Sweepstakes will be one of the highlights of the 1971 Grand National Horse Show, October 22 through 31, at Daly City's Cow Palace.

Joseph G. Moore, horse show chairman and Cow Palace director, said:

"The purse will be $7,500, with all entry fees added," declared Moore. "Details will be outlined in the premium book which will be ready for distribution early in August."

Entry fee will be $250 per horse. This fee must be paid by the formal entry closing date of September 24.

The World Championship Jumper Sweepstakes is a contining event at each performance, winding up with the finals at the last performance.

Additional information and premium books may be obtained by writing Allen Ross, horse show manager, Cow Palace.

The West's largest Livestock Exposition is also an important facet of the 1971 Grand National.

Services Held for Victim

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday for a Brisbane youth who was fatally injured after losing control of his motorcycle over the weekend.

William James Becker, 19, of 765 Humboldt Road, was dead on arrival at Peninsula Hospital after the accident on a road in the Crocker Industrial Park in Brisbane, according to Brisbane police officer Jim Stimers.

Stimers said Becker, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie W. Chapman, was semi-conscious with head injuries when emergency crews first arrived shortly after 2:45 p.m. Saturday.

Stimers said the youth failed to negotiate a curve and the cycle struck a curb.

Becker was a machinist for Elliott Controls.

Survivors, in addition to his parents, include four brothers, Jessie Chapman Jr., and Michael Becker of Brisbane, and Steven and Tommy Chapman of Seaside; three sisters, Jenny Chapman of Seaside, Bernadette Becker of Brisbane, and Mrs. Rennie Regan of Texas.

A requiem mass was offered today at the Church of the Visitacion. Interment was in Skylawn Memorial Cemetery.

Nauman and Lincoln mortuary, South San Francisco, was in charge of arrangements.

Drill Bits for Dentists Are Sought

The Flying Samaritans are looking for someone who will donate a set of dental drill bits to a hospital in Puerto Vallarta.

The drill bits are needed to complete a $7000 set of dental equipment donated to the hospital by a group of plastic surgeons who are acquainted with Gene Mulligan, Bay Area head of the Flying Samaritans.

Perhaps because they are plastic surgeons, the medics (who wish to remain anonymous) were unable to complete the dental package. Western Air Lines and Allied Van Lines have agreed to transport the equipment to Puerto Vallarta, but the Flying Samaritans still need those drilling and grinding bits.

The Flying Samaritans are a group of doctors, pilots, and translators, who fly themselves and their skills into Mexico and several Central American countries, to provide free medical service to people in remote areas.

Based in San Diego for 10 years, the Flying Samaritans are expanding into Northern California, for membership, while expanding into Baja California to build two schools.

Counseling Is Urged

San Mateo Union High School District students who do not have their class schedules for the next school year, which begins on September 13, are urged to get in touch with the high school in their attendance area to arrange appointments with counselors.

All summer counseling is on a mornings-only basis. The dates for the service are: Aragon: August 2-September 3; Burlingame: now until September 7; Capuchino: now until July 19, and August 16-September 3; Crestmoor: August 2-September 3; Hillsdale: August 9-September 3; Mills: August 16-September 3; San Mateo: August 2-September 3.

Mrs. Bernadette Corsiglia, counselor at Peninsula High School in San Bruno, will be available for counseling by appointment only throughout July and the first week of September.

Agreement

An agreement between the City of Daly City, Daly City Scavenger Company and Coastside Scavengers regarding dumping at Mussel Rock has been approved.

The agreement provides the Pacifica scavengers with a dumpsite for another year at a cost of $4.50 per ton.

Scavenger company president Al Serini informed the city the additional refuse would not cut short the life of the dump.
